Dream Harvest

The great incentive to a youthful life Is dreams!—lovely and enchanting dreams. For they illumine distant unknown shores. They're guiding stars in all our storms and strife.

Ye list not to the words of other men, So, hark ye, senior, thus a wise fool speaks.

The greatest beacon on thy ship's voyage Is not knowledge, but a great ideal, Which does not die in Fate's adversity, As the silent mist above a sleeping town Must fade into bleak dawn's gray flowered gown.

Thus, when thy destined shore looms into view, And God's great organ breathes a sweet amen,—May your ship of life be loaded with A treasure far beyond all recompense,—A reaping from the field of common sense? Nay,—a harvest of thy dreams.

WAYNE R. HIGGINS, '31.

Senior History

THE Senior Class of 1931 entered into a new and unknown realm, the Freshman Class, in the autumn of 1926. This class is composed mostly of members who spent their first year at College Park High, Fulton High, or Russell High. After becoming acquainted with our faculty, and being fully initiated by upperclassmen, we entered into our work, to find that there was still a great deal for us to learn.

Then came a joyful vacation, during which we learned that the students of College Park High, and those of Fulton High, who resided in Hapeville, were to attend Russell, where we would be a part of the Fulton County System. The Russell High building was enlarged, at a cost of $100,000, to accommodate the thousand students who were expected to enroll for the coming year. Now it is one of the finest and best equipped buildings in the state. Indeed, we all have cause to be proud of "dear old Russell."

We started our second year's work in September, 1927, and felt almost as if we were again Freshmen, because of the strange building, and the many new teachers, who had been added to the faculty. After becoming acquainted with our classmates and teachers, we settled down to another year of hard work.

It was a great relief when time for vacation came. We had three months in which to recuperate from the effects of our Sophomore year.

During our Junior year we took up several new subjects: Geometry, Physics, Spanish, French, and Chemistry. Nor was our social life neglected, an entertainment being given by us in honor of the graduating class. As all others had done, this year came to an end, and we were given another three months' leave of absence.

At the beginning of our Senior year much time was spent practicing to assume the role of a dignified Senior. This has been a busy year for all, with the various clubs, Senior play, Senior entertainments, publication of The Pointer, other school activities, and our studies.

The members of this class may point out with pride the achievements in scholarship, athletics, and activities throughout our school days. In our Sophomore year, almost half of the football team, more than half of the band, three members of the baseball team, and two members of the Honor Club, were representatives of this class. Last year five of the football team, five of the track squad, four of the basket-ball squad, and two of the four members of the debating team were Juniors. We also ranked high in scholarship, there being twelve members of the Honor Club.

This year our class is fully represented, as it always has been, in the Hi-Y, the Girl Reserves, the Literary "R" Club, Football, Basket-ball, Track, and Baseball teams.

And now the end draws near. Only a few days more until we shall enter into a new life. That will be the real test, and may the future give forth to every member of this class of 1931 as much usefulness and pleasure as our school days have yielded.

LEYTON HUNTER, 31.

Prophecy

HARK, ye students of Russell High School. Listen to the words of your prophetess. Astounding things are discovered when the veil of the future is flung aside and I see a strange vision.

Behold, Ralph Lewis, the beloved president of the Senior Class of 1931, whose ambition, even as today, has led him onward and upward until he is governor of this, his own state.

Virginia Oliver, Elizabeth Center, and Kathryn Johnson, are the leaders of the society circle of New York.

Ruth Colley and Dean Stith are prominent lawyers in a law firm in Boston. Among their secretaries are Inez Brown, Laura Duncan, Grace Medlock, and Tommic Lee Barnett.

John Brock and Jesse McElroy are famous doctors. Helen Miller is the head nurse of their hospital, and her assistant nurses are Mary Durham, Lillie Mae Stanfield, and Sara Hornsby.

Grady Tidwell and Olan Harvey are having much success selling Frigidaires to Eskimos.

Hoke Copeland and Robert English are the proud proprietors of an automobile agency which sells cars that run without gasoline. They have made much money in this occupation.

Leyton Hunter, who is making use of his knowledge gained by writing class histories at Russell High School, is a famous historian and an authority on that subject.

Alberta Palmour is the president of a very exclusive college. Mary Elizabeth Venable and Hilda Cochran are on her faculty.

Olin Grant, Cornelius Ellington and Lawrence Schenck are representing America in the Olympic Games.

Irene Cheatham, Lucile O'Rear, Jessie Mae Baker, and Betty Welch have answered the call to be missionaries and are teaching the Chinese to speak English.

In one of the large moving picture companies in Hollywood, I recognize three of the most beautiful actresses as those who strove for the Beauty Prize in 1931: Anne Sullivan, Helen Walker, and Martha Ramage.

Elsie Bishop and Hazel Holden are the teachers of a daucing class in San Francisco. Louise White, Emma Louise Clay, and Gladys Pope are among their talented pupils.

James Colson, John Faulkner, and Robert Wood, have joined Uncle Sam's forces and are brave soldiers serving in the Philippine Islands.

Harold Callahan is the leader of a famous concert orchestra. Among his talented members are Mary Belle Dennard, Marie Trimbel, and Jack Reed.

Traveling with this orchestra is a dancing chorus composed of Helen Barnette, Mary Fatton, Murriel Tyler, Hazel Bazemore, and Louise Stallings.

Leontes McDuffie, assisted by James McLaughlin, Aubrey Nesbit, and James Moss, conducts a prosperous Boxing and Wrestling School.

Homer Miller, Forrest West, and Walter Smith, have joined the Navy and are seeing the world in a submarine.

Harry DeFoor, a famous detective, along with his great helpers Luford Lewis, Joe Dan Goode, and Lester Blackstone.

Mary Lee Oliver and Evelyn Bobo are having much success with their kindergarten in Memphis. They are assisted by Vernice Tomlinson.

Gordon Wallace and J. W. Tice are the heads of an expedition to the South Pole. Myrl Walton is their excellent dictitian. Who would have thought that Myrl loves to cook?

Carlos Faulkner and Raymond Parrish are Real Estate men in a new subdivision on a recently discovered island in the Pacific Ocean.

Rodney Grey and Eugene Hemperly have become "air-minded" and are licensed air mail pilots. George Henry accompanies them on all trips, his special duty being to have the parachutes ready at all times.

Wayne Higgins is having much success as a poet and song writer in New York.

The American Hotel in Paris is very well patronized since the management has been turned over to Emma Kate Curtis.

Mary Blake and Edith Arnold have established a shoe store in Africa where they are having such success that they have invited their friends Edna Sherrer and Bessie Brock to help them sell shoes to the natives.

Hoyt Byrd and Claude Yow, noble life guards at Miami, have proved themselves quite beroic.

Marshall Lawrence and Hebert Salter are scientific farmers who are trying to raise a rubber plant which will produce rubber balls.

Elizabeth Crumbly and Helen Benefield have a large dress-making establishment in Chicago. In their store Katherine Callaway and Martha Hart design ladies' hats.

I see Edith Sellars, Beverly Mills, and Julia Flake in a grocery store bargaining with the clerk and discussing supper menus for their husbands. They are making use of the Home Economics learned at Russell High, I suppose.

Maynita Swan and Waldine Perry are successful as interior decorators in Los Angeles. Edward Richardson and Thomas Hamilton, modern dentists in Boston, are very much noted for their skill.

Ralph Campbell and Richard Aderhold, famous chemists, are endeavoring to concentrate food into the form of small pills.

Roy Eidson, Andrew Cox, and Carlisle Vason, are on the editorial staff of the New York Times in New York. Roy and Andrew are cartoonists of some fame, while Carlisle writes the sport news.

Vivian Price, Mildred Blalock, and Ruby Clonts, have a Beauty Shoppe and guarantee to grow hair on any bald head.

McArva Allen and Lena Beth Brown are taking expression in Germany.

Louise Butt and Margaret Askew are short story writers who are making quite a name for themselves.

Marvin Whitlock and W. B. Callahan are architects of a building much taller than any ever constructed.

Harold Zelman is a language teacher in Persia. He is specializing in Greek, Hindoo, Egyptian, Polish, Japanese, and Dog Latin.

Mamie Lee Carson, Lois Gunter, and Eleanor Kinnett, are operating a boarding house in Reno. The majority of their patrons are ladies seeking divorces.

Nellda Stewart and Marcia Thomasin are private secretaries to the principal of Russell High School.

Ruth Keller, Louise Kimbell, and Ethel Turner, are the owners of a large pet shop. They are doing a noble work in brightening the lives of elderly unmarried ladies by supplying them with pets.

Jessie Dee Barnette and Ellie Johnson have taken Miss Anderson's and Miss Colquitt's places respectively at Russell High School. Jessie enjoys teaching her French Class and Ellie enjoys her Spanish Class. Who would ever imagine those girls as dignified school teachers!

I see that John and Ed Davidson have quite a novel stunt representing "Mike and Ike" on the stage.

Even as I watch all these things, the veil is drawn over my eyes, shutting from my vision things to be, and I turn my eyes to things that are. I trust that as "coming events cast their shadows before," only Goodness, Truth, and Prosperity shall follow the fair and talented Class of 1931.

CELESTIA MAJOR, '31.

Cast Will and Testament

W E, the Senior Class of 1931, having passed through the horrors of mathematics, refought the battles of history, fathomed the depths of science, and successfully overcome the dragon—Failure, do hereby will and bequeath to the Class of 1932 our conquering wills, well-balanced minds, and winning personality.

ARTICLE ONE: To our worthy and beloved teachers through these years of High School, we will the storehouse of knowledge revealed to them through our efforts to answer their eternal, "what"—then "why?" We would also give them seven days each week free from popping chewing gum, paper wads, and "billet-doux," and no paper to litter their rooms at night.

ARTICLE Two: We will and bequeath to the Juniors our classrooms, worn books, stubs of pencils, and our secret papers we have clung to until the end. We also include herein our Senior dignity. May they uphold it these many years as we have done.

ARTICLE THREE: To Gladys Castlebury, Louise Pitts, H. L. Bridges, Mary Louise Ellison, and Edward Shannon, we bequeath the right to represent the Seniors in chapel.

ARTICLE FOUR: We do will and bequeath the winning personality of McArva Allen, Helen Miller, and Virginia Oliver to Catherine Cantrell, Eleanor Roberts, and Elizabeth McClarv.

ARTICLE FIVE: To Jesse Robertson we bequeath Carlisle Vason's bachelor buttons, since he is crawling out of his bashful stage.

Article Six: We leave the popularity of Kathryn Johnson, Alberta Palmour, and Mary Lee Oliver to Elwynne Veale, Isabel Kilgore, and Dorothy Allen.

ARTICLE SEVEN: We do will and bequeath Sara Hornsby's perfect letters in shorthand to Gerald Wallace.

ARTICLE EIGHT: We leave Inez Brown's, Laura Duncan's, and Jessie Dee Barnette's places as "Library Doctors" to Almarine Wright, Dorothy Jackson, and Carolyn Ansley.

ARTICLE NINE: To Rae Neal we will Martha Ramage's place as prettiest girl in the Senior Class.

ARTICLE TEN: We bequeath Eugene Hemperley's position as captain of the football team to Jack Landers in the hope that Jack will fill the position as well as Eugene has.

ARTICLE ELEVEN: We do will and bequeath Ralph Lewis' place as president of the Senior Class to the most capable Junior.

ARTICLE TWELVE: We leave the modesty of Marie Trimble, Lillie Mae Stanfield, Marcia Thomason, and Vivian Price to Mary Helen Cleckler, Josephine Parker, Mary Brown, and Idell Wheeler.

ARTICLE THIRTEEN: We will Gladys Pope's desk in history class, the second one on the fifth row, to Frances Hodges, where she will find explained "the three frontiers in American History."

ARTICLE FOURTEEN: We bequeath the artistic talents of Roy Eidson, Ruth Keller, and Leyton Hunter to Lucile Stanley, Fred Orr, and Jack Reynolds.

ARTICLE FIFTEEN: We do give and bequeath James Moss' quietness in study halls to Florence Wills. Perhaps she needs some of it.

ARTICLE SIXTEEN: To Bomar Aldridge, Mary Nell McPherson, Murrial Smith, and Maita Mitchell we bequeath the ever-ready smile of Lois Gunter, Hazel Bazemore, Lena Beth Brown, and Mary Durham.

ARTICLE SEVENTEEN: We leave the meekness of Bessie Brock, Betty Welch, Irene Cheatham, Ethel Turner, and Louise Kimbell to Dorothy Estes, Lucile McMillan, Rachael Childers, and Edna Blake.

ARTICLE EIGHTEEN: To Genever Breazeale we bequeath Emma Louise Clay's right to become a nine o'clock scholar.

ARTICLE NINETEEN: We bequeath the good sportsmanship of Lawrence Schenck, Olin Grant, Marvin Whitlock, and Cornelius Ellington to Harry Golightly, Arnold Keith, and Jack Stallings.

ARTICLE TWENTY: To Jeanette De Loach, Charles Snow, Agnes Clinkscale, and Annie Carmichael we bequeath the musical talent of Mary Bell Dennard, Louise Butt, Hilda Cochtan, and Leontes McDuffie.

ARTICLE TWENTY-ONE: To James Boland we bequeath Joe Dann Good's cave-man instincts, long since drowned by babyish tears.

ARTICLE TWENTY-TWO: We do will and bequeath the originality and innocent looks of Celestia Major, Mary Elizabeth Venable, and Edward Richardson to Eileen Benson, Martha Smith, and Walter Taylor.

ARTICLE TWENTY-THREE: We bequeath to Ruth Williams, Anna Lou Couch, and Corinne O'Neal the tendency of Edith Arnold, Elizabeth Center, and Emma Kate Curtis to wear a different dress every day.

ARTICLE TWENTY-FOUR: To Malberry Smith and Leon Wallace we bequeath Harold Zelman's and Harry De Foor's liking for history, wishing them a brilliant success in this subject.

ARTICLE TWENTY-FIVE: We bequeath the "wise cracks" of Rodney Gray, Claude Yow, and John Brock to Roosevelt Godby, Ben Lisle, and Eugene Stevens. May they use this bequest with care.

ARTICLE TWENTY-SIX: To Alene Woodal! we will Hazel Holden's book reports.

Article Twenty-seven: We leave the lovable disposition and good nature of Jessie Mae Baker, Helen Benefield, Ruby Clonts, Julia Flake, and Elizabeth Crumbley to Gene Henslee, Frances Fagan, Louise Barnett, and Frances Wright.

ARTICLE TWENTY-EIGHT: Eleanor Kinnett's ability to be so "bad" but never get any demerits we give to Audrey Warnock.

Article Twenty-nine: We leave the curly hair of Margaret Askew, Tommie Lee Barnett, and Evelyn Bobo to Evelyn Lewis, Dorothy Love, and Tommie Camp.

Article Thirty: To Walter Boyd we bequeath Aubrey Nesbit's special privilege of running errands for Miss Hearn.

ARTICLE THIRTY-ONE: To Edith Nesbit, Faye McElroy, and Lucile Slade we do will and bequeath the put-on, play-like dignity of Murriel Tyler, Helen Barnette, Myrl Walton, and Mary Helen Walker.

ARTICLE THIRTY-TWO: To Mary Jim Brown we leave Nellda Stewart's ability to outline history.

Article Thirty-three: To Fay Hudson we bequeath Mildred Blalock's seldom-used bistory book, in the hope that she will dust it more often than Mildred has.

ARTICLE THIRTY-FOUR: We will the attractiveness of Mammie Lee Carson, Mary Patton, and Louise White to Dorothy Elliott, Rosa Cole, and Fannie Mae Peacock.

ARTICLE THIRTY-FIVE: We leave Harold Callahan's place as Drum Major to H. E. Smith. ARTICLE THIRTY-SIX: We will the great knowledge of Beverly Mills, Edward Richardson, Vernice Tomlinson, and Herbert Salter to Martha Angley, Dorothy Estes, and Mildred McWhorter, ARTICLE THIRTY-SEVEN: To Gordon King we do bequeath Homer Miller's ability to argue with the teachers.

ARTICLE THIRTY-EIGHT: We leave the many friends of Ann Sullivan, Jack Reed, Gordon Wallace, Edith Sellars, and Louise Stallings to Jerome Ragsdale, Louise Barnett, Byron Hicks, and Helen Bugg.

ARTICLE THIRTY-NINE: We bequeath the handsomeness of Wayne Higgins, James Colson, Clan Harvey, and Dean Stith to Hugh Gibson, John Hamilton, Fred Thompson, and John Nolan.

ARTICLE FORTY: We do give and bequeath Ruth Colley's talent for debating to Durrant Couch.

ARTICLE FORTY-ONE: We leave Walter Smith's right to be the cutest boy in the Senior Class to William Whigham.

ARTICLE FORTY-TWO: Grady Tidwell and Luford Lewis leave to James Reeves and Hubert Callaway their remarkable ability for chewing gum.

ARTICLE FORTY-THREE: To Jimmie Lou Knott, Frances Akin, and Mildred Ross we leave the giggles of Grace Medlock, Katherine Callaway, and Mellie Witherspoon.

ARTICLE FORTY-FOUR: To Ruth Wade we bequeath Waldine Perry's formula on perfect health and her school girl complexion, obtained by using Grandma's Washing Powders.

ARTICLE FORTY-FIVE: To Oscar Kite we bequeath W. B. Callahan's right to be the best sport we know.

ARTICLE FORTY-SIX: To Glennis Epperson, Rowena Pierce, and Ruby Pinion we bequeath the willingness of Martha Hart, Mary Blake, and Ellie Johnson to do everything they are called upon to do.

ARTICLE FORTY-SEVEN: We leave Dick Aderhold's place in the band to Conway Mizelle.

ARTICLE FORTY-EIGHT: To Raymond Trimble we will the desire of James McLaughlin to become a big man.

ARTICLE FORTY-NINE: We give the amusing ways of Ed and John Davidson to Fred Waters and Nick Wood.

ARTICLE FIFTY: We bequeath Hoke Copeland's air of quietness and calm solitude to Wilbur Phillips.

ARTICLE FIFTY-ONE: To Charles Reddick, J. R. Murphy, Julian Jackson, and Joe Hornsby we leave Carlos Faulkner's, Jesse McElroy's, Hoyt Byrd's, and Robert Wood's reputation of being liked by everyone.

ARTICLE FIFTY-TWO: We give and bequeath the athletic ability of Raymond Parrish and N. S. Johnson to the Juniors who are most capable of filling their places.

ARTICLE FIFTY-THREE: We leave Forrest West's and George Henry's speed in typing to Edith Kadel and Charles Rush.

ARTICLE FIFTY-FOUR: We leave the flirtatious ways of Ralph Campbell and Andrew Cox to David Stephens and Stough Beers.

ARTICLE FIFTY-FIVE: We bequeath the right of Elsie Bishop to be class testator to Ellen Murray.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed the seal, this seventh day of January, A. D., 1031, in the presence of the attesting witnesses named below.

Testatrix: Elsie Bishop, '31.

JUNIOR HISTORY

ON the opening day of the 1930-31 school year some one hundred and fifty boys and girls representing the Junior Class of Russell High promptly reported for work. Determination and enthusiasm were plainly written on their faces.

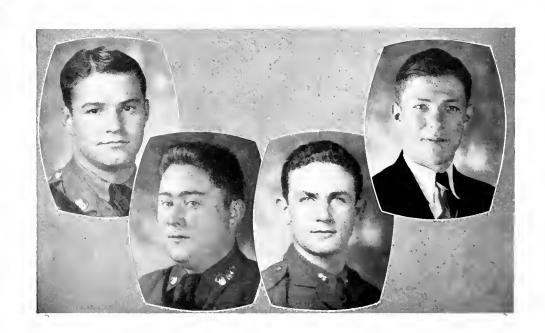

After the usual preliminaries, the juniors settled down to work earnestly, since they had grimly resolved to make this the most profitable year of their high school career. Besides planning to pass all academic work and to boost all extra-curricular activities, they decided to edit The Russell Wildcat, thus relieving the seniors of this task.

So far this year, the juniors have met with reasonable success in all of their undertakings. If their enthusiasm and determination remain manifest, they should in truth make this a record year.

Sophomores

SOPHOMORE HISTORY

I N September of 1930, two hundred and fifty-nine reluctant youths left their vacation joys and reported for duty as Sophomores at Russell High. They no longer felt like strangers nor gaped with wonder at the new marvels that had fascinated them as freshmen. They had already adjusted themselves to new methods of study and greater vital part of their school, and began to contribute a good share to the activities of school life. The superior merit of this class is evidenced by the fact that in the first quarter a large number made the honor roll and a still greater number made honorable mention. The remainder of the class "buckled to" with renewed vigor and vowed to pass the next examinations. If they continue with this determination, these sophomores promise to make the most distinguished class yet produced at Russell.

Freshmen

FRESHMAN HISTORY

As we, the Freshman Class of 1930-31, entered Russell High in September, it was with a mingled feeling of pride and awe—pride that we had at last entered High School, and awe as we thought of the new subjects of our own class and those above us. However, we soon felt as though we were really a part of the school activities through our representatives of various parts of the school life.

The subjects that were at first so strange to us have become as interesting as those in our earlier school days.

During the course of these new studies, we have also gained many friends, both from the faculty and the student body, for whom we are justly proud.

We hope that during the progress of our class we may be always ready and willing to help in anything that the school may undertake.

Activity History

THERE are several clubs organized to unite the student body into closer friendship, and with the idea of creating a better school spirit by rivalry in work for the good of the school. Within the clubs, the work of each individual results in a benefit to all with no one person deriving more than the others.

Both the senior and junior classes have Spanish clubs. Their meetings are conducted in Spanish and are both interesting and instructive. One of the main features is that the name, motto, pin, flower and colors are handed down from class to class.

The Girl Reserves of Russell High is more than three years old. It is composed of a good number of the most enthusiastic girls of the school. Now among the clubs, it is doing a great work.

The boys, under the splendid leadership of its capable officers, have developed the Hi-Y into one of the largest clubs in the school. Through their hard work the morale of the whole school has been raised.

In October, 1928, the Home Economics Club was organized with a large group of girls and several members of the faculty of this department. This club has the reputation of being the most congenial in the school and of having a marvelous record of activities for the year,

When the National Educational Association met in Atlanta, in 1929, the Mandolin Club was organized and played for them. The purpose of this club is to advance music and to interest the students in instruments and the art of playing them.

There are two French Clubs composed of the members of the first and second year classes. The business meetings and programs are carried on in French, giving much amusement and instruction to the members.

The Officers' Club of 1930-31 consists of thirty-two physically fit and mentally alert cadet officers of the school. The club meets every week to study military training. The boys are striving to promote leadership in the R. O. T. C. unit. An additional feature to this organization is the monthly social affair.

The Athletic Association was organized to arouse in each student a better school spirit toward athletics. It purposes to promote such a spirit as is needed to uphold the morale of the players.

Russell has three new clubs this year: The Athletic "R" Club, The Literary "R" Club and Student Council. The Athletic "R" Club is a club among the students who have won athletic letters. It promotes friendship among the different athletic groups. The Literary "R" Club, having as eligible members those who have won literary "R's," has in mind the elevation of scholarship of the school. The Student Council was created to distribute justice and raise the general spirit of the school. We look for great things from these new organizations.

The Senior Class of '31 wishes to pass on to the future students of Russell High the good record and good sportsmanship which has been shown in every way in these clubs.

Football History

AWEEK before the opening of school, Coach Bowen greeted for the second time a bunch of boys who had the inspiration in their hearts to represent Russell High School upon the gridiron.

The boys were eager to learn and Coach Bowen was a good teacher, but as a whole the team was the poorest to ever represent "Greater Russell." There were many difficulties which Coach Bowen had to face—the difficulties of having some of his men injured during most of the season, and of having some ruled off the team on account of ineligibility.

In the first game with Marist the team proved that they were "fighters," if nothing else, and reverted to this type of football, which brought them a 13 to 0 defeat.

The next game was the most heart-breaking game of the year, which was a 25 to 0 defeat at the hands of Russell's greatest rivals, Fulton High. The Friday of the same week, Russell played Griffin High School in one of its greatest games of the year. The score was a 7 to 6 defeat for Russell.

After more football talk and more hard knocks for a week, Russell met the strong Commercial eleven at home, and won a great moral victory in holding them to a 7 to 7 tie.

A trip to Robert E. Lee Institute of Thomaston resulted in a defeat by the score of 18 to 0.

The next game, which was played at home, brought a victory over Powder Springs A. & M. The score was 27 to 0.

Next, Russell lost to Decatur High School at Russell by the score of 19 to 0.

Then came a game which was hard for the boys to lose, because of the close rivalry between the schools. This was the defeat administered by the Douglasville team by the score of 13 to 7.

On Thanksgiving morning the boys closed their season at Marietta with a defeat of 18 to 0.

Although the boys did not win but one game, they at least did what some of the boys would not do and that was try. The team produced one of the choices for all-prep selection in Harry Golightly, tackle.

The team loses by graduation Captain Hemperley, Schenck, Grant, Whitlock, and Parrish,

Basket-Ball History

THREE weeks before the close of the football season Coach Lewis began the work of organizing the basket-ball team. He had the work of filling the shoes of Crawford, Zeigler, White, and Cochran, four of last year's regulars lost by graduation or withdrawal.

This year Coach Lewis has said that he is going to give as much time as possible to all material from the lower classes, which showed talent so that he would not have so much re-building to do next season.

He has found a good number from the junior, sophomore and freshman classes. Some of the boys who made the team are: Camp, a freshman who has shown exceptional ability in shooting points. He will prove a help to Coach Lewis in the years to come. Schenck, a sophomore, and the smallest player on the team, makes up in "hustle" what he lacks in size. Gibson, Reddick and L. Wallace are three guards that are giving one another plenty of competition. These boys along with Walker, a center,—not only center on the team, but the center of attraction because of his great height—are juniors who will have another season under the teaching of Coach Lewis.

The members of the team that are expecting to graduate in June are: Johnson, Yow, and Vason, forwards; Stith and Hunter, center; and G. Wallace and Ellington, guards.

All these boys seem to realize that this is their last year to represent Russell upon the court and are doing their best to give Coach Lewis another good season.

The team has played only six games up until this time. They opened the season with the Baraca team of East Point, composed of old Russell stars, and won, 23 to 16. Then they journeyed to Winder, losing by a score of 23 to 17. They next played Marist on their "indoor-outdoor" court and lost by a score of 50 to 36. They lost to Commercial 23 to 17, defeated Newnan 34 to 21, and defeated Griffin 27 to 25.

The team is expected to enter the N. G. l. C. and Fifth District tournaments which will be held some time in February. The student body and faculty at Russell are wishing success to the boys who are representing their school in this sport.

Baseball History

THE baseball team had a very successful year, as one can see from the scores of the games. Despite the fact that we were late in starting, the boys worked hard and won several important games. Since a new league has been formed, we are expecting to make a strong bid for the championship.

There are seven regulars from last year back in school, with the new boys in school we are expecting a much better team.

Scores of the various games last season are:

Track History

A T the time this goes to press the track team of Russell High for 1931 is still a mystery, since there is not a member of last year's team in school, and the call for candidates to report for the team this year has not been sent out.

The team of 1930, composed of: Basil Cochran, Perrin Walker, Grady White, Henry Crawford, Nebby Gordon, George Longino, E. W. Oliver, Johnnie Woods, and Walfrom Ziegler had a successful season. Six meets were entered by Russell and a good showing was made in each meet. The meets entered were, The Fifth District Meet which Russell won, The State High School Meet at Athens in which Russell won third place, The A. B. C. Meet at Asheville, N. C., in which Russell won third, The Southern Relays at Grant Field, The Atlanta Prep Meet at Grant Field, and a dual meet with Griffin High which Russell won.

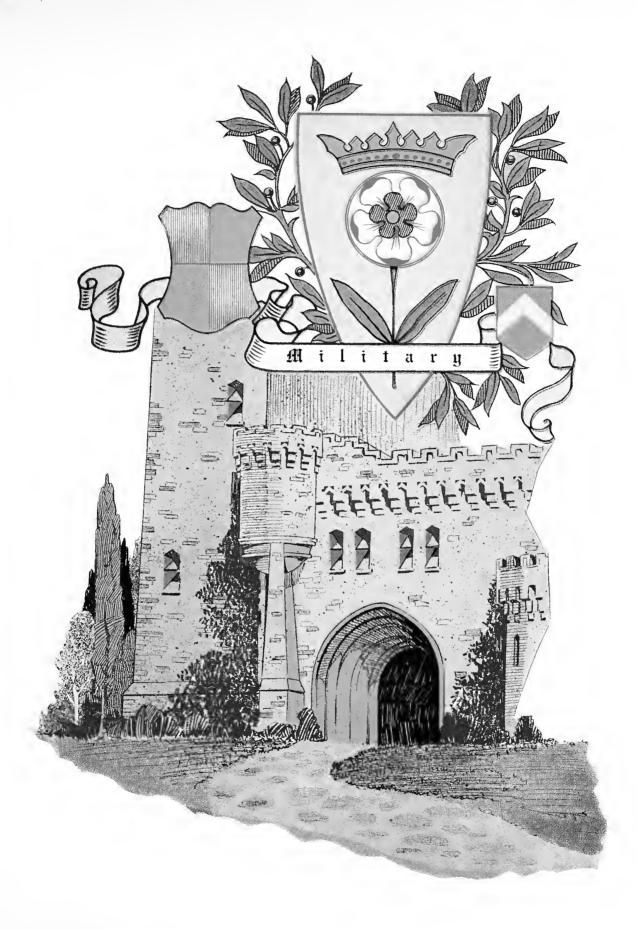

The outstanding star of the team was Perrin Walker who shone in the high jump, dashes, and shot put.

Members of the team with their events.

COCHRAN (Captain) 440-yard dash and hurdles
WALKER High jump, dashes, and shot put
Crawford Broad jump, shot put, and dashes
Gordon Broad jump, discus, and hurdles
WHITE Broad jump and dashes
OLIVER Pole vault
Longino
ZIEGLER High jump
Woods Dashes
WHITE, CRAWFORD, LONGINO, WALKER Relay

It is hoped that the Russell High track team of 1931 will come through and make an even better showing than the teams of the preceding years.

Business Revival is Near at Hand!

ARE YOU PREPARED?

Business is looking forward. Leaders of industry and finance believe the recent depression will be quickly followed by prosperity, and young people should hasten to qualify in a good school.

The DRAUGHON SCHOOL OF COMMERCE is a recognized good school:

BECAUSE

it is sponsoring a forward-looking program.

BECAUSE

it has an unusual and select student body.

BECAUSE

high school graduation is an entrance requirement.

BECAUSE

it is accredited by the State Board of Education, based on Junior College Standards in Commerce, it teaches the regular courses ranging from six to twelve months, and it is sponsoring a two-year course in Walton Higher Accounting.

BECAUSE

BECAUSE

its Placement Department fills over 700 positions a year.

A revised catalog and character reference blanks will be forwarded on request.
